Medicaid Coverage and Other Health Care Resources

The information in this document is intended primarily to provide people working in subsidized housing and homeless assistance systems basic information about available health care resources. It is also intended to provide context for a discussion on gaps in needed health care services and treatment.

The following resources are covered:

- Federally Qualified Health Centers: Community Health Centers; Health Care for the Homeless; Migrant Health Centers
- Rural Health Services
- Native American Health Resources
- Veteran Health Resources
- HIV/AIDS Health Resources
- Behavioral Health Resources
- Other Resources for the Uninsured in North Dakota

- Managed Care

HEALTH CARE RESOURCES AND MEDICAID COVERAGE

A variety of health care resources for low-income people exist at the federal and state level. These resources can take the form of health care directly accessible by individuals or funding that flows through organizations that provide health care and related services. Accessing certain resources requires enrollment (and re-certification) based on specific, documented eligibility criteria. As with housing resources, many health care resources focus on particular populations, such as people experiencing homelessness, people living with HIV/AIDS, veterans, or people with disabilities.

Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs)¹

The Federal Health Center Program serves medically underserved populations or areas, works with special populations, and provides for enhanced Medicaid reimbursement. The four types of health centers are: (1) Community Health Centers; (2) Health Care for the Homeless; (3) Migrant Health Centers; and (4) Public Housing Primary Care Health Centers. Details about Community Health Centers and Health Care for the Homeless Programs are below. According to the Community HealthCare Association of the Dakotas, there are 5 FQHCs in North Dakota.

Community Health Centers²

Community Health Centers (CHCs) deliver comprehensive, high-quality preventative and primary health care to patients regardless of their ability to pay. They also provide oral health and behavioral health care tailored to the needs of the communities they serve. CHCs offer a sliding fee discount to based on income. According to HRSA, there are 4 CHCs in North Dakota:

- Coal Country CHC
- Family HealthCare Center
- Northland Health Partners CHC
- Valley CHC

Health Care for the Homeless (HCH) Programs³

HCH Programs emphasize a multi-disciplinary approach to delivering care to homeless persons, combining aggressive street outreach with integrated systems of primary care, mental health and substance abuse services, case management, and clinical advocacy. Emphasis is placed on coordinating efforts with other community health providers and social service agencies.

There is one federally-funded HCH Program in North Dakota: Homeless Health Services in Fargo.

Homeless Health Services⁴

Homeless Health Services (HHS) is a program of the Family HealthCare Center in Fargo. The project maintains a primary care clinic in the downtown area at St. Mark's Lutheran Church. Services include management of acute and chronic health problems, preventive care, HIV/AIDS screening, and patient education. Patients receive case management services, including referrals for mental health and substance abuse services. Outreach is provided by staff at area shelters and other community sites serving people who are experiencing homelessness. Family HealthCare has in-house enrollment specialists to assist uninsured patients with Medicaid applications.

Linkages: Homeless Health Services has linkages with Fargo Cass Public Health, Merit Care Medical Center, Southeast Human Service Center, Lakeland Mental Health, area shelters, and transitional housing sites.

Statistics: Estimated homeless population: 5,000; Patients served annually: 1,020

Migrant Health Centers⁵

The Migrant Health Center Program provides support to health centers to deliver comprehensive, high quality, culturally-competent preventive and primary health services to migratory and seasonal agricultural workers and their families with a particular focus on the occupational health and safety needs of this population. There is one Migrant Health Center program in North Dakota: Community Health Services Inc., which operates in Grafton.

Rural Health Services

Critical Access Hospitals (CAHs) and Rural Health Clinics (RHCs) are the safety net providers for rural and remote communities in North Dakota.

Critical Access Hospitals (CAHs)⁶

“Critical Access Hospital” is a designation given to certain rural hospitals by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). The CAH designation is designed to reduce the financial vulnerability of rural hospitals and improve access to healthcare by keeping essential services in rural communities. This is accomplished through cost-based Medicare reimbursement.

To ensure that CAHs deliver services to improve access to rural areas that need it most, restrictions exist concerning what types of hospitals are eligible for the CAH designation. The primary eligibility requirements for CAHs are:

- 25 or fewer acute care inpatient beds
- Location more than 35 miles from another hospital
- Maintained annual average length of stay of 96 hours or less for acute care patients
- 24/7 emergency care services

According to the University of North Dakota Center for Rural Health, there are 36 CAHs in the state. [For a list of CAHs in North Dakota, please see Appendix A at the end of this Worksheet.]

Rural Health Clinics (RHCs)⁷

A Rural Health Clinic is a federally qualified health clinic (but not a part of the FQHC Program) that is certified to receive special Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement. CMS provides advantageous reimbursement to increase rural Medicare and Medicaid patients' access to primary care services.

CMS reimburses RHCs differently than it does other facilities. CMS is required to pay RHCs using a prospective payment system (PPS) rather than a cost-based reimbursement system. RHCs receive an interim payment from Medicare, and at the end of the year, this payment is reconciled using the clinic's cost reporting. For services provided to Medicaid patients, states can reimburse using PPS or by an alternative payment methodology that results in a payment equal to what the RHC would receive under PPS. Regardless of whether the patient sees a mid-level provider or a physician, the RHC must receive the same amount for its services.

As of 2015, there were 55 Rural Health Clinics in North Dakota. [For a list of Rural Health Clinics in North Dakota, please see Appendix B at the end of this Worksheet].

Native American Health Resources

Native American Development Center⁸

NADC provides referrals to a supportive professional network of psychologists, behavior health providers, attorneys, and medical doctors to serve Native American individuals and families.

Indian Health Service – Great Plains Area Office⁹

Indian Health Service's Great Plains Area Office in Aberdeen, South Dakota, works in conjunction with its 19 Indian Health Service Units and Tribal-managed Service Units to provide health care to approximately 122,000 Native Americans located in North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Iowa. The Area Office's service units include seven hospitals, eight health centers, and several smaller health stations and satellite clinics.

Each facility incorporates a comprehensive health care delivery system. The hospitals, health centers, and satellite clinics provide inpatient and outpatient care and conduct preventive and curative clinics.

NORTH DAKOTA HEALTH CARE FUNDING AND MANAGEMENT

Medicaid

North Dakota State Medicaid Plan²⁶

Overview: Historically, Medicaid eligibility was restricted to specific categories of low-income individuals, such as children, their parents, pregnant women, the elderly, or individuals with disabilities. In most states, adults without dependent children were ineligible for Medicaid, regardless of their income, and income limits for parents were very low. The Affordable Care Act (ACA) extended Medicaid to nearly all nonelderly adults with incomes at or below 138% of poverty (about $32,500 for a family of four in 2013). All states had previously expanded eligibility for children to higher levels than adults through Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). North Dakota has implemented Medicaid expansion under the ACA; enrollment began in October 2013, with coverage effective January 2014. As of May 2015, Medicaid and CHIP cover 89,001 North Dakota residents. From fall 2013 to May 2015, the number of people covered by Medicaid/CHIP increased by 19,021 and the state saw a 24% reduction in the uninsured rate from 2013 to 2014.

How Care is Delivered in North Dakota Medicaid: In North Dakota, the North Dakota Department of Human Services, Medical Services Division is responsible for Medicaid. Sanford Health Plan was awarded the state contract to provide health coverage to the newly-eligible population under the Medicaid expansion.

On October 1, 2011, North Dakota Medicaid began transitioning their disease management program to a Health Management Program. Services of this program include patient-centered care
