

Welcome to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's online training on the Point-in-Time count, also known as the PIT count. This is a self-paced training that provides a high-level overview of HUD's Point-in-Time Count Methodology Guide. It covers the PIT count methodologies and minimum standards mandated by HUD. There are 6 sections in this training. To navigate through each section, please click on the "Previous" and "Next" buttons on your screen. Throughout the training, you can use the panel on the left side of your screen to navigate through the sections, read the accompanying audio text, and access the key terms related to the PIT Count Methodology Guide. You can also access the 14 PIT count standards and a list of resources using the links.
